End of the road for bus company

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A BUS company that has served Haverhill for more than 60 years has fallen into administration and jobs have been axed.

On Friday, Yellow Star Travel Services – which operated from a depot in Duddery Hill as Burtons – entered receivership and left workers fearing for their jobs.

It employs around 50 members of staff and the business has an annual turnover of £3million.

On the same day, Stephensons of Essex made a deal to take over the bus contracts in the region, but Burtons' commercial tours and private hire coaches were left in the hands of administrators.

An employee for the firm told the Weekly News: "I turned up for work as usual on Friday morning and there were administrators in the building asking questions and going through files.

"They said the business had gone into administration and sent me home. They said I should stay next to the phone.

"Then on Monday I received a letter saying my contract had been severed and that I had to apply for redundancy.

"The way we have been treated in such a short space of time has been diabolical, distressing and very hurtful. I don't know what to do next."

Desperate Haverhill mother Victoria Thompson needs to raise £40,000 for treatment which would give her 17-month-old identical twins the chance to grow up together. She was told in March that Aiden (right), who is around 15 minutes older than Owen, had a case of cerebral palsy. Along with partner Gareth Thomas, she is hoping to raise the money so Aiden can travel to America for an operation to deal with the disability. See full story – Page 3.

Silver Band concert a celebration of success

THE award-winning Haverhill Silver Band celebrated their successes with a concert at the town's arts centre.

The performance of the amateur musical group, which is based in Haverhill, began with a flourish of The Championships and moved on to the challenging arrangement of Le Carnaval Romain by Berlioz, which the group played when they won a place at the National Finals in Cheltenham on September 25.

There were also arrangements of music from the 1930s, with Puttin' on the Ritz and Got Rhythm being particularly popular.

Then in a tribute to Centre Stage's version of Oklahoma! at the arts centre last week, the band – ranked nationally as a first section brass band – performed a medley from the show.

In order to make it to Cheltenham in September, Haverhill Silver Band, which is more than 150 years old, will continue to play fundraising events over the summer to cover the £3,000 cost of the competition.

Opening next week: Lesley Farrow, Mark Bailey and Cllr Graham Newman open the doors to the new Clements Primary School.

Parents fight for patrolled crossing

PARENTS and teachers have raised serious safety concerns after Suffolk County Council refused to install a patrolled crossing outside a new school.

The new Clements Primary School, in Greenfields Way, Haverhill, will open to 240 pupils from nursery up to age 11 next week. But for children walking to class in the morning, a zebra crossing will be all that is provided.

Geoffrey Mason lives in Shepherds Court with his sons Joshua, 6, and Dominic, 8 – both of whom will be attending Clements from Monday – and has started a petition to ensure the crossing is supervised.

The 49-year-old former bus driver said: "Greenfields Way needs a patrolled crossing but the county council won't give us one.

"Greenfields is a dangerous road – fast moving cars straddle the speed bumps and don't pay attention to the zebra crossing, it is on a bend and there are lorries heading to the industrial estates.

"Add to that the increased traffic at school times when people pull up to drop off kids, we simply cannot be without a school crossing patrol."

The petition already has 200 signatures, which include that of headmistress Lesley Farrow and a number of fellow teachers.

Mr Mason added: "As parents, we are all worried about our children. I know the council has to cut costs but surely not at the expense of lives.

"By not listening to us, the council is just asking for trouble."

A spokeswoman for Suffolk County Council told the Weekly News that the necessary checks were carried out and they felt no further precautions were required.

She said: "There is a zebra crossing in operation and the council has looked at all safety aspects and have risk assessed children's route to school.

"We have already added a cycle route and have made sure the new entrance is as suitable as possible.

"After carrying out the usual checks we believe the current situation is adequate but we are willing to listen to any feedback."

The new £5.1 million state-of-the-art building has replaced the previous 1960s building, and is part of Suffolk's move from a three-tier to a two-tier school system.

Its facilities include football pitches, a netball court, eight classrooms, a school hall and "shared spaces" which members of the community can book out.

The building also utilises renewable energy and sustainable features such as solar panels, passive ventilation, a bio-mass woodchip boiler and a sedum roof.

■ What do you think? Is your child set to start at the new school next week? Are you concerned that there is no patrolled crossing? Write to editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Borough's new mayor starts his term

THE new mayor of St Edmundsbury has begun his term of office.

Following an election, Cllr Christopher Spicer (pictured right) officially accepted the role at a mayor-making meeting of St Edmundsbury Borough Council last week.

The ward member for Pakenham chaired the meeting of the full council for the first time in Bury St Edmunds.

Cllr Terry Buckle, ward member for Moreton Hall, will serve as deputy mayor and Cllr John Griffiths MBE was re-elected as leader of the council for a four-year term.

Cllr Spicer takes over the role from Cllr Ian Houlder. His chosen charities are St John's Ambulance and the Citizens' Advice Bureaux.

The new cabinet also includes Cllr Anne Gower, ward member for Haverhill North, who will hold the portfolio for Haverhill and housing.

'I'll do whatever I can to help Aiden live a normal life'

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A DESPERATE mother needs to raise £40,000 for treatment which would give her 17-month-old identical twins the chance to grow up together.

Victoria Thompson, of Sperling Drive, Haverhill, gave birth to Aiden and Owen on New Year's Day last year at The Rosie.

The brothers were 10 weeks premature and stayed in special baby wards for almost two months, but were slowly growing stronger.

However, in March, 31-year-old Victoria took her sons for their regular check-up and was told that Aiden, who is around 15 minutes older than Owen, had a case of cerebral palsy called Bilateral Spastic Hemiplegia.

Now Victoria and her partner Gareth Thomas are campaigning to raise £40,000 so they can travel to America for a complicated and expensive operation to deal with the disability, which creates severe stiffness of the limbs.

Victoria said: "I took the boys to a routine follow-up appointment and said I was concerned that Aiden wasn't crawling as freely as Owen. He was also struggling with his balance when sitting up."

"The doctor examined him and said he had cerebral palsy. It was such a shock and it is heart-breaking - his whole little life has changed."

She continued: "It is really hard. Aiden watches his brother and gets frustrated because he can't keep up."

"Owen helps as much as he can by bringing him toys and not leaving him out but he is also getting upset because I have to spend more time with Aiden than him."

The operation required, Selective Dorsal Rhizotomy, is rarely funded by the NHS in Campaigning mum: Victoria Thompson with twin sons Owen and Aiden, right, who was diagnosed with cerebral palsy. She is now beginning a desperate fundraising drive to raise £40,000 to enable Aiden to receive treatment for his condition in the US.

Picture: Keith Jones 741164.

England and when it is occasionally carried out in Bristol, it is only done from the age of 4 - at which point the condition can have become more serious.

If the money is raised, Aiden will be added to a waiting list at St Louis Children's Hospital in America where surgery and 18 months of intensive physiotherapy could solve the problem.

Victoria said: "There is still a chance Aiden will be able to walk but he will be different to others and as a parent I will do whatever I can for him to lead a normal life with us."

"I often wonder whether Aiden will ever be able to do what his brother can."

The family have embarked upon a fundraising campaign over the coming months which includes barbecues, quiz and band nights, raffles, auctions, dinners and dances.

Details of events will be announced on the website www.aidensfootsteps.co.uk where donations can also be made.

You can also donate at www.justgiving.com/aidensfootsteps via the Tree of Hope children's charity, or by texting AIDA01 and the amount you wish to contribute to 70070.

Church need funds to restore precious window

A CHURCH has launched an appeal for £8,000 to repair a "spectacular" stained glass window and preserve the community's history and heritage.

The Rector of St Mary's Church in Haverhill's town centre, Ian Finn, has pleaded with the public to help with the costs of essential work on the window, which is on the south wall and is more than 100 years old.

The glass is due to be taken away and repaired in the coming weeks after the lead holding it together had deteriorated to such an extent that it now struggles to hold the panels in place.

Rev Finn said: "The main lights of the window are now over 100 years plus, in poor condition and some of the panels are in a precarious condition, hanging out of the lead.

"This is an important part of the history and heritage of Haverhill and we are appealing to the community to help us preserve this important piece so that we and future generations can marvel and enjoy this beautiful work of art."

The window has four main lights and 19 traceries, depicting St John, St Paul, St Peter and St James.

It was installed at the turn of the 20th century and bears the mark of painter Percy Bacon of Newman Street, London, who was born in Ipswich in 1860.

To help with the emergency repairs project and make a donation, contact Rev Finn on (01440) 708768.

'Limp' Lorna bows out of talent show

BRITNEY Spears look-a-like Lorna Bliss crashed out of TV's Britain's Got Talent after her performance was labelled "limp as a python" by judges.

The 30-year-old impersonator from Haverhill returned to the show's semi-finals stage after the judges changed their minds over kicking her off the hit show at the audition stage.

Despite being buzzed off by David Hasselhoff, Amanda Holden and Michael McIntyre when she sang Britney's Toxic in Liverpool last month - wearing only underwear and diamonds on her body and causing a storm by sprawling herself across the judges' desk - she was given a reprieve and performed once more on Tuesday.

Dressed in a bikini, Lorna performed her idol's track Slave accompanied by a python, and followed it up with Oops I Did It Again.

While Simon Cowell, who appeared on the show for just the second time this season, McIntyre and Hasselhoff buzzed for the Haverhill woman to stop early, Holden allowed her to finish.

And Cowell said afterwards: "I saw your first audition which was a lot more fun, throwing yourself on the desk."

"To be honest with you, the performance was about as limp as your python."

"You had an opportunity here tonight, Lorna; you had a second chance. You have dreamed of being Britney all your life, and it was just a bit limp."

However, Holden told the look-a-like, who was the first act to be eliminated at the end of Tuesday's show, she had improved but needed to work on her dancing.

Lorna grew up in Haverhill and returned to live in the town in 2009. Last year she was the star of a music night in Haverhill's market square that featured tributes to various pop artists, proving very popular with local youngsters.

She has performed her act all over the world including France, Brazil and the US.

Tea party for carers

CARERS from across the region are invited to a tea party in their honour.

The Carers Tea Party – held to mark Carers Week by local charity St Nicholas Hospice Care – is open to anyone looking after someone with a life-shortening illness or helping someone who has received bad news about their condition.

The afternoon, on June 15 from 2.30-4pm, will be an informal opportunity for carers to meet others and find out what help St Nicholas Hospice Care can offer. There will be live music and free parking at the hospice site in Hardwick Lane, Bury St Edmunds. For more information, call (01284) 702525 or email family.support@stnh.org.uk

Village fete on Saturday

A VILLAGE is getting ready to host its popular annual fete, accompanied by award winning music. The Great Wrattling Village Fete, at Hall Farm on Saturday from 1pm, will feature a children's Build a Kite Competition, magician, raffle and more than 25 stalls and games, plus a barbecue, beer, summer cocktails and teas. The fete, which usually draws around 400 visitors, will be visited by the Haverhill Silver band, who are heading to the brass banding national finals in September. Entrance fee is £1 with children free. All proceeds go to St Mary's Church in the village.

Lost stones gain pounds

A SLIMMING group from Haverhill has lost a total of more than 101 stone and raised £475 for the Teenage Cancer Trust. The feat was achieved by New Croft group in Chalkestone Way during their Lets Beat It campaign, with the money going to the charity's new unit at Addenbrooke's. The group's next event will be on June 15 with the theme 'Men Allowed' to promote national Men's Health week and encourage males to join Slimming World. For more details contact Tania Watson on (01440) 706143.

Thank you: Derek Crick receives a certificate to mark his 50 years as a preacher from Rev Nigel Bishop at Haverhill Methodist Church.

Derek marks 50 years of church work

WORSHIPPERS gathered at a church to celebrate a preacher's 50 years of service.

Derek Crick was honoured at the special ceremony at Haverhill Methodist Church in Camps Road on Sunday where he has been both a member and an accredited Methodist lay preacher for half a century.

But the 74-year-old thought that he would not make the milestone after being diagnosed with prostate cancer five years ago.

After receiving a certificate from the church's minister, Rev Nigel Bishop, Derek said: "It felt very good to receive this award. Five years ago I did not expect to get to the 50 years."

"I was diagnosed with prostate cancer and the doctor gave me a year to 18 months to live but I am still well and although I continue to receive treatment, I have a lot to be thankful for."

Derek also received a letter of thanks and congratulations from the Rev Graham Thompson, who is chairman of the East Anglia District of the Methodist Church. Derek began preaching in 1953 but it was not until 1961 that he passed his formal exams for the Methodist Church.

He has since preached on hundreds of occasions across the district in various denominations and in Newmarket, and although he has reduced his commitments to 20 over the year, he is still very active on the preaching circuit.

He said: "I enjoy doing it and I feel I have been called to be a preacher. As long as I can I will continue to do so."

Derek lives in Downs Crescent, and added his thanks to his wife, Reta, to whom he has been married for the past 53 years, for her support throughout the last 50 years.

Sunday's presentation was followed by a meal with family and friends.

Mr Bishop said that Derek's ministry was highly regarded in the area and that the congregation held great affection for him.

Bus firm collapse

Following Friday's shock news, Suffolk County Council said it was working with administrators to ensure bus services for the public continued.

Stephensons will take over operations with immediate effect, running certain services and passing others on to other bus companies including Galloway European Coachlines.

A spokesman for Stephenson's said: "We have taken over bussing contract operations and will be keeping on bus related staff."

"The rest of the business will be placed in the hands of administrators."

Burtons was established in 1948 at Burton End Garage in Haverhill.

Since 1998, it has expanded into a major bus and coach operation, acquiring Premier Travel Services, Frank Harris Coaches of Grays, Essex, and Network Colchester from Arriva.

Administrators SFP blamed Burton's collapse on the rising cost of fuel, and added it would continue to look for a buyer for the rest of the business.

A former Burton's driver said he was not surprised by the news and the job losses – the extent of which are not yet clear.

He said: "It is to be expected that jobs are lost in the more expensive commercial side."

Rumours have also raged that former managing director Paul Cooper and his wife left to travel to Spain on the same day the administrators arrived.

Travellers leave town after residents' outcry

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TRAVELLERS have been moved on from a public space after residents demanded action following two weeks of delay.

In mid-May, six caravans arrived on the grassy site between Bergamot Road, Chivers Road and Bramley Road in Haverhill, which is used by local residents to walk dogs and as a play area for children.

Following an angry response from neighbours, St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which owns the land, had said it would "be taking all necessary steps to evict them".

But readers were driven to complain to the Weekly News on Tuesday when members of the travelling community were still living there. They added that another mobile home had appeared, with its inhabitants living separately from the other encampment on the field.

One concerned neighbour said: "I am very disappointed by how long it has taken the council to act on this matter.

"We were visited by the police soon after the travellers arrived and they said there was a five-day order in place for the group to leave, but they didn't and nothing was done."

"Our concern was that the longer they stayed, the more established they would become, and the more attractive the site would be for future visitors."

A spokeswoman for the borough council said that the travellers were removed soon after, and on Wednesday were in the Sudbury area.

She also moved to dismiss concerns that travellers would return to the popular spot.

Because trespass is a civil offence rather than a criminal one, it is the responsibility of the local council to move people on, rather than the police.

Taking a flying leap pays off for hospice

THRILL seeking supermarket staff bungee jumped to raise money for a local charity.

Five workers from the Tesco superstore in Reeds Lane, Haverhill, decided to do something a bit special for St Nicholas Hospice Care and raised £867.60.

Liam Blaydon, Jack Wilkinson, Lawrence Allen, Daniel Patten and store community champion Claire

Bowden took part in a Valentine's bungee jump in Sudbury in February and handed over their money to Abby Mayes, from the charity, this week.

Mrs Bowden said: "I really enjoyed and would definitely do it again. We are becoming thrill seekers here and I am trying to organise sky diving next."

Mr Patten added: "It was a bit scary for those of us who don't like heights but it was good fun and I am pleased I did it."

Of the money raised, £140 was donated by Tesco to add to the total.

Miss Mayes said: "The team did brilliantly and the whole event went really well."

"Our thanks go to the individuals and Tesco for their support."

New leader sets out future vision

SUFFOLK County Council has unveiled its new leader.

Cllr Mark Bee was elected last week and spoke about taking the authority in a new direction, with better connections between people, politicians, partner organisations and its own staff.

He said: "The people of Suffolk expect to be listened to and cared about."

"I am clear that my leadership will not be about a philosophy, it will be about listening to the people of Suffolk, openness and transparency and practical solutions appropriate to the needs of a community."

The Conservative, who will keep much of the existing cabinet, added that he would focus his efforts on areas of public concern, including school crossing patrols, libraries, household waste recycling sites and country parks.

Cllr Bee will face challenges in the shape of £125million worth of cuts over four years, an ageing population and the need to improve broadband access.

Cllr Colin Law is stepping down from the cabinet following his election as leader of Waveney District Council, leaving his skills and economic development portfolio to be merged with greenest county and passed on to Cllr Judy Terry.

Disabled need a mobility shop

Sir, I think there is something Haverhill is really missing in its selection of shops and businesses, and that is a mobility shop with stock and equipment for disabled and elderly people in the area. At the moment people have to go some distance to get wheelchairs and items such as those. I have to go to Sudbury and I am fortunate that my husband can drive me, but he is ill and it is difficult for us. We are both pensioners and do not get out of the house much but I am more worried about other people who can't get anywhere and don't have a car. With Haverhill growing, we have more disabled people coming into the town than ever before and people are living longer. I just feel that with shops closing down of late it would be a great help for the community if this kind of store was set up as it's something Haverhill badly lacks.

Haverhill

THE May meeting of the Haverhill Family History Group began with the business of a short AGM, the chairman thanking everyone for their help and support during a very successful year. The existing committee members were re-elected, together with a new treasurer, Alan Langley.

There followed an interesting and informative talk about workhouses by Suffolk Record Office manager Shellie Reed.

She set the scene of caring for the poor, not just in Suffolk but across the whole country, and so would have touched most families at some time.

Up until 1834 each parish was responsible, with some, including Haverhill, having their own parish workhouse.

Then, with rising populations and increasing costs, larger, 'more efficient' workhouses were introduced serving a 'union' of many parishes.

Now, help was only available in the workhouse where strict 'Victorian' principles were enforced.

Families were separated by sex and age and provided with work.

More compassionately, youngsters were taught to read and write and even learned a trade.

Haverhill was in the Risbridge Union, one of 20 across Suffolk, which used the town's workhouse until a new one was built at Kedington in 1856.

This served some 26 local parishes, including six in Essex, until 1930. Sheila outlined some of the surviving records, including vaccination registers for Risbridge Union covering all births between 1907 and 1929.

The next meeting continues in the same period with local historian and photographer Denise Webb giving a talk about the life and work of Victorian families in East Anglia. The meeting, at 7.30pm on Thursday, June 9, is in Haverhill Independent Church Hall.

Firm's move to town is boost for cake lovers

A CAKE company is on its way to Haverhill.

The Wicked Cake Company is set to relocate from its current site in Neath Farm Business Park in Cherry Hinton and move to premises in Maple Park, off Falconer Road in the town.

The leading producer and supplier, which has operated for 13 years, specialises in supplying tray cakes, muffins and other baked goods for airlines, schools, hospitals and businesses, and had outgrown its old home.

The new base will be a 10-year lease for 18,000 sq ft across five units.

Ed Bliss, company director, said: "The company was looking for new premises anywhere in the Cambridge catchment area, and the availability of accommodation across the five units – which offered a mix of production and warehouse facilities – in combination, at an affordable price, was the main reason for the relocation."

Maple Park is a new development on Falconer Road, with planning permission for light and general industrial use.

Three units remain for sale – two at almost 3,000 sq ft and one at 4,882 sq ft – and are available through joint agents Carter Jonas and Cheffins.

Seized watches sold for £7,160

Drug dealer's ill-gotten gains auctioned by police

TWO watches seized from a convicted Haverhill drug dealer have been sold by police for more than £7,000.

It was the latest stage in the process to recover as much as possible from wealthy gang boss Matthew Dixon, as officers continue to strip away assets gained from a life of crime.

Dixon, 41, of Elmshurst Close, Haverhill, was jailed for nine years at Ipswich Crown Court in August 2009 after being convicted of conspiring to supply cocaine worth £400,000.

Among the property seized from Dixon were two designer watches, one by Franck Muller and another by Jacob & Co. which police offered for sale on the internet auction site Bumblebee Auctions – a site specialising in selling for police forces.

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A total of 53 people bid for the Muller watch, making £5,030, while there were 33 bids for the Jacob & Co watch, which sold for £2,130.

A spokesman for Suffolk police said: "Our officers will try every possible method of returning lost and stolen goods to their rightful owner."

"But when this cannot be done, selling the items to members of the public allows us to generate much needed funds for worthwhile community causes."

After Dixon was jailed, an order was made under the Proceeds of Crime Act ordering him to hand over assets and cash totalling £32,000.

So far almost £16,000 has been seized, including a Cartier watch which was sold by police locally for £1,000.

Also sold was a stretch limousine, a VW Golf car and a Yamaha motorcycle.

Dixon was the leader of a gang who imported six kilos of cocaine into Suffolk and Cambridgeshire between October 2007 and July 2008.

Police had tracked couriers taking cash to drop-off points, including public car parks, where it was exchanged for consignments of drugs. It was estimated that over a 12-month period the gang had imported £1 million worth of cocaine into the two counties.

Six members of the gang, including Dixon, who had just been released after serving four and a half years of his sentence for drug dealing in Cambridge, were jailed for a combined total of 32 years.

Programme for disabled youth

A PROGRAMME of social activities for young people with disabilities is being relaunched in Haverhill.

Disability charity Optua will be running the Teaming Up sessions later this month after receiving funding from Suffolk County Council's Activities Unlimited Service.

The initiative aims to give young people with special needs the opportunity to build independence, confidence, self esteem and social skills while taking part in everyday leisure activities.

The project ran across Suffolk last year and now has backing to start up again.

Haverhill's weekly sessions are aimed at young people aged 18 to 25, and will run Monday evenings from June 20 to August 22. It will include activities such as bowling, cinema, swimming and meals out.

Karl Daniels, Teaming Up co-ordinator, said: "Everyone who came to Teaming Up sessions last year really enjoyed themselves and we're looking forward to running them again in Haverhill."

"We hope to attract some new people as well as all those who enjoyed Teaming Up last year."

Optua is also looking for young people to volunteer at the sessions. Contact Karl Daniels on (01473) 836770 or email tup@optua.org.uk

Village sets fete date

FUN seekers are invited to join in a traditional village fete and hope for sunshine.

The annual Withersfield Village Fete has been announced for Saturday, June 18 on the village green and will feature the usual attractions of live music, a raffle, bar and barbecue, refreshments and a flea market.

All proceeds will go towards the continued upkeep of St Mary's Church in the village.

Family picnic is fun and games

FAMILIES made the most of their half term holidays this week by getting involved in a range of community activities.

The highlight of the break was a free picnic to mark national Family Week, held behind the Chalkstone Community Centre in Haverhill yesterday.

The lunchtime event, organised by St Edmundsbury District Council, saw hundreds of parents and children of all ages bring food and drink, and join in the entertainment and sports on offer.

BY ADAM LUKE

Activities at the second annual get-together included a bouncy castle, face painting, crafts, Scalextric, as well as football, rounders, golf taster sessions and tug-of-war.

Tesco provided a fresh fruit smoothie tasting session for the children and the members of the fire service was on hand to give advice and show off some of their equipment.

Dawn Goss, an organiser, said: "Polls have shown that the average family spends just 45 minutes a day together and we set up this picnic to inspire local people to come and have fun together."

The event was supported by Chalkestone Residents' Association, Haverhill Town Council, Havebury Housing, Carousel Children's Centre, Artheads and the police Safer Neighbourhood Team.

Abbeycroft Leisure, which ran a number of sports and games at the picnic, also entertained youngsters throughout the week with holiday camps at the leisure centre in Ehringhausen Way.

The opportunities for 8 to 12 year olds took place from Tuesday, with participants choosing from a range of indoor and outdoor activities, including messy play sessions where children were able to make their own Father's Day card, rain makers and paper chains.

And the centre's £650,000 Kid City play area was very busy throughout, with reduced entry for children during half term.

Amelia Epton, Abbeycroft's sports development officer, said: "We were delighted to be able to get involved in the community picnic in an effort to bring everyone together."

"All the activities this week have offered a chance for families to come together and take part in sports and activities and meet other parents with children of similar ages."

Log-on for big weekend of hacking

A COMPUTING museum has announced a new event for anyone who likes to get stuck in to technology.

The Centre for Computing History, based in Haverhill's High Street, has partnered with MakeSpace to create Hackers Delight – The Weekender, which will run from the evening of Friday, August 5 through to Sunday, August 7.

The event will offer electronics gurus, software hackers, video-graphers, photographers, musicians and bloggers the chance to get together and socialise with other like-minded types, with the ultimate aim of creating items, exhibits, displays and media for the museum.

The Days Inn, in Hollands Road, will host the get-together in its reception area and function rooms, where tables will be set up with a number of different projects and guests are invited to get involved in.

These will include robotics, theme music and restoring retro arcade games.

There will also be tours of the computing museum, which is a short walk from the hotel, food and drink, an 80s' chill-out room and arcade games to play.

For details, as well as the project options, visit www.computinghistory.org.uk

Focus jobs could stay in takeover

JOBS at the Haverhill branch of the collapsed DIY firm Focus look secure after it was taken over by Kingfisher PLC, which operates the B&Q chain.

Thirty-three people work at the store and their jobs were in jeopardy after Focus went into administration at the beginning of May.

Kingfisher has agreed conditionally to buy 31 of the former Focus stores, including the branch in Haverhill.

Administrators from Ernst and Young have found buyers for 55 Focus stores in three separate deals, saving 900 jobs, but have acknowledged that it has not been possible to find a buyer for the group as a whole and a closing down sale has started.

Simon Allport, joint administrator, said: "We have been working hard to sell the business as a going concern and to maximise value for creditors.

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"UK retailers are facing one of the most challenging retail environments in recent times and the DIY sector has been highly competitive, with only the strongest players being able to thrive and survive."

The administrators will continue negotiations for a number of the other stores, but stock liquidation means that a number of the Focus stores will close and employees be made redundant.

Employees who lose their jobs will be offered support and advice.

Mr Allport said: "We would like to thank all Focus DIY employees for their continued support in what has been a difficult and uncertain time."

First Responders seek volunteers

Police probing theft of truck

A WHITE Ford Transit pick-up truck has been stolen.

The vehicle, registration P58PBM, was taken between 2am on Sunday, May 22 and 9am on Friday, May 27 from Alde Road in Haverhill.

If you have information about this incident, call Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

iPod stolen from house

OFFENDERS entered an unlocked home and stole a black Apple iPod and cash.

The incident happened on Friday, May 20 between 6.30pm and 7.30pm in Crowland Road in Haverhill. Anyone with information on this theft should contact Suffolk Police on (01284) 774100 and quote reference HH/11/1069.

'The moment I was diagnosed, life as I knew it stopped dead'

'This condition is a life-taker': Karen Warner.

Pictures: David Johnson 737723.

THIS time last year, life was good for Karen Warner. Having raised teenage daughter Kayleigh alone, she admits there had been tough times – but, finally, everything had fallen into place.

She had a nice home, a great job, a loving new boyfriend. And she had plans for the future: to return to studying, maybe have another baby.

But then, in an instant, Karen's life changed forever. After suffering a series of major epileptic fits – which caused her to black out, convulse and froth at the mouth – the 36-year-old was diagnosed with a rare and potentially deadly brain condition.

"I describe it as a 'life-taker'," says Karen. "The minute I was diagnosed, life as I knew it stopped dead. I can't work, I can't drive, I can't even have a bath on my own – someone has to sit with me, in case I have a seizure."

"I can't even go out of the house without thinking: I live in a maisonette up 28 concrete steps; those steps terrify me."

"There are days when it really doesn't affect me,

Discovering she has a rare brain condition – leading to terrifying fits that can leave her hospitalised – has made Karen Warner afraid to leave the house on her own. "Some days I'm fine, others I feel like a caged animal – going from calm to raging wild," she tells ALICE RYAN.

when I feel fine and stay positive. But other days I feel like a caged animal: I can go from being calm one minute to absolutely raging wild the next... I get so angry and upset and emotional. I don't know which way to turn, what to do, how to cope.

"I have no control over my life any more. It sounds a bit morbid, but I don't know how much time I've got left: maybe, in another year's time, this condition will have taken my life away completely..."

Karen has what's known as a cavernoma in her brain. A cluster of abnormal blood vessels, it looks like a little raspberry; made up of tiny cellular bubbles, or caverns, they both absorb and leak blood.

"Mine is about half-a-centimetre across," explains Karen, who lives in Cambridge. "It's just this tiny little thing, and yet it causes so much trouble."

Cavernomas, which can run in families, are estimated to occur in one in 600 people across the UK. But the vast majority never cause any problems: only one in every 40,000 people suffer symptoms like Karen.

When the 'caverns' leak blood, they can provoke everything from blurred vision, loss of balance and amnesia to weakness of limbs, seizures and even strokes.

Doctors have told Karen that her cavernoma has, like a birthmark, been there since she was born. "Looking back, that makes sense," says Karen. "I've had headaches, always on the right-hand side of my head, all my life. Sometimes I'd have to take time off work because I had what I thought was a migraine: my head hurt, my vision would go a bit blurry, I'd feel sick."

It was during one of those bouts of illness that Karen – who worked at a nursery and planned to train as a child psychologist – had her first fit. "I'd been off work for a couple of days. I got up this one lunchtime, to speak to Kayleigh before she went to work, and next thing I knew the paramedics were there."

Picking up the story, Karen's mum, Jenny Page-Croft, remembers: "I got a phone call from Kay saying: 'Mum's fainted and hit her head, and I think she's having a fit.'"

"She was rushed to hospital and she'd had another fit before they could even get her off the trolley."

At the time, doctors thought the fits were a one-off; they suspected she'd fainted, banged her head on a radiator and fainted as a result of the injury.

It wasn't until November, when Karen suffered another bout of tonic-clonic seizures (formally known as grand mal attacks, they affect the whole brain), that CT and MRI scans were done – and the cavernoma discovered.

"Every time she has an episode, she has three or four big fits," continues Jenny, who works in a pharmacy. "It's horrendous to see. It always follows the same pattern: her eyes glaze, she starts licking her lips, and then she talks gibberish, talks in tongues, and moans.

"Then she'll go stiff as a board and she foams at the mouth and gasps for air. Seeing someone you love go through that is so frightening. And it takes her a long time to recover. They say each fit is the equivalent to running a marathon; she goes from her usual beautiful, bubbly self before the fits, to being a little shadow afterwards."

If cavernomas occur on the surface of the brain, laser surgery is an option. But Karen's is embedded deep in her right frontal lobe, rendering it inoperable. As a result, there is no cure for her condition; all doctors can do is medicate to keep her symptoms under control. And even the medication is far from perfect: despite upping dosages – she now takes 400mg of anti-seizure meds a day – Karen has never gone more than a few weeks at a time fit-free.

"I usually end up in hospital for a few days," she says. "The last time I was in there, a few weeks ago, the doctor told me that, in my case, I might never reach the stage where I'm seizure free."

"That is quite a difficult thing to think about. And I know that, for the rest of my life, I will always have the cavernoma. It might cause me more problems, or less. I don't think it will kill me, but I can't be sure – it might."

Forced to quit work amid health and safety fears, Karen says she felt a huge sense of loss. Securing benefits has, she adds, also been a battle. And, tired of being held prisoner by the concrete stairs, she is in talks with the council about moving to a ground-floor property.

"More than anything else, being on the ground floor would make a huge difference to my life," explains Karen. "Knowing I could have a fit any time has really affected my confidence and I hate going down those stairs. I have a little dog, a Jack Russell called Daisy, and it would be wonderful just to open a door and be able to take her out into a garden."

"That's something being ill has taught me: to appreciate the little things, the simple pleasures. It's taught me not to be materialistic; it's taught me what our priorities should be. For me, the best moments are waking up and seeing the sun shining; spending time with my daughter, who's the light of my life; going for a walk in the park with Daisy; having a meal out with my partner Tom. Those are the positive things in my life, and I try to focus on them."

Karen credits Kayleigh, Jenny and Tom – along with a close-knit group of friends – with supporting her through the last few months. "Tom's only a young lad, in his early 20s, and they'd only been together for about a month when Karen was diagnosed," explains Jenny. "A lot of other lads his age wouldn't have stuck around, but he has. It's been a real baptism of fire, but he's been absolutely brilliant."

Karen and her family decided to share their story with the Weekly News to raise awareness of cavernoma and understanding of brain conditions in general.

"I am always worried about having a fit in a public place and how people might react," says Karen. "If we can raise the profile of conditions like this, hopefully people will be increasingly understanding."

Planning a Wedding...?

Let the experts guide you

Getting hitched is full of challenges

SAYING "Yes" was the easy part, as there's a lot to think about if you're getting married this year.

However, there's no need to fret – with a little (or a lot!) of forward planning you can be sure to get hitched without any hitches.

Firstly, you and your partner need to ask yourself three important questions:

1. What are you going to spend?
2. Who are you going to invite?
3. How much are your families willing to contribute?

With those tricky questions out of the way, it's the date itself which becomes important, and you can't fix that without a venue. Hopefully the two of you will have similar ideas about the type of wedding you want (religious or registry, or something more unusual) and can narrow venues down in that way. Once you've also decided on your price range, number of guests and whereabouts in the country – or abroad – you want to say your vows, you'll have considerably narrowed down your search.

Then it's a matter of getting in touch for quotes and possible dates, before you can send your invites out. Make sure to check, and double check, the legal requirements for your chosen ceremony, and what paperwork you are required to bring.

For your reception it's important to book a venue in good time, as many are booked up for months in advance

Love hearts: Be sure you compile a list that is achievable.

(particularly for Saturdays over the summer). Now is also the time to decide whether you have the time to plan the day yourself, or whether to invest in a wedding co-ordinator.

Pick up a bargain honeymoon by booking in advance, and tick yet another thing off your list!

It's also not a bad idea to book your bridal suite in advance. One top tip is to take out wedding insurance before you pay any deposits, as finding last-minute replacements can be expensive.

There's a lot to think about, but the most important thing is that you and your partner are making a public commitment to one another, and this key statement shouldn't be overshadowed by whether you have a buffet or a sit-down meal.

Don't compete with your friends, don't panic about the little details, and try to enjoy as much as you can.

Planning a Wedding...?

Let the experts guide you

Photographic style is essential

WEDDING photography has been going for almost as long as the camera itself, with early examples dating from the 1840s.

Back then each photograph took a long time to set up, and even longer to actually take. Now things couldn't be more different, with a range of photographic styles to suit your tastes and fit around the action of your big day.

■ Traditional wedding photography is what we are used to seeing and essentially consists of posed groups and portraits.

While it is old-fashioned, don't disregard it as this is the type of wedding photography that has stood the test of time and will always produce shots that you will look back at in years to come.

■ The reportage style of wedding photography grew

Image of perfection: Take the time to talk through your preferences with the photographer.

out of photo-journalism, and has fast become the most popular approach to modern wedding photography. Rather than staging events to photograph, reportage photography captures the day as it unfolds, with the photographer remaining as an onlooker rather than directing the proceedings. Of course many couples find it hard to choose between traditional and contemporary, and will use a combination of the two throughout their wedding day.

■ A third style that is becoming more popular is a fashion-based approach. In contemporary/fashion-based wedding photography, photojournalistic images of the events of the day are combined with posed images that are inspired by editorial fashion photography as would be found in magazines like Vogue or Vanity Fair.

This style often involves more innovative and dramatic post-processing of images. Most photographers can offer variations on these very different styles, so make sure you leave enough time to talk them through your taste before the day.

A small army marches to raise funds

AN ARMY of toddlers marched two miles for charity and were rewarded with a garden picnic.

The youngsters from Stepping Stones pre-school set off from their base in Coupals Road last Thursday and walked to the Tractor Park in Howe Road where they had fun in the playground.

The 40 children, accompanied by staff, then headed to the nearby home of Elaine McManus, pre-school manager, for their picnic.

Cakes made by the fundraising committee were sold to parents as they came to pick their children up to take them home.

All the money raised from the day was put towards buying new computers for the classroom, allowing the youngsters to develop their computer skills from an early age.

Mrs McManus said: "All the children were absolutely fantastic and everyone had a great time despite the rain.

"I would like to thank everyone who was involved and helped to make the day such a success."

The day before the event, 16 children, who attend the morning session at Stepping Stones, were taken to the Haverhill Leisure Centre to enjoy a play swim session as part of the water theme, which was the focus for the term.

Four burglars steal tools from garage

A GANG of four thieves broke their way into a garage and made off with tools.

The burglary took place at the business premises in Helions Bumpstead Road, Haverhill, between 7pm on Wednesday, May 25 and 8am the following day police said: "Offenders forced entry to a business premises and stole various hand tools from within.

A spokeswoman for Suffolk

"The suspects are described as being four white men.

"The first is described as wearing a dark baseball cap, dark jacket and dark trousers. The second is described as wearing a dark hooded top, a baseball cap and dark trousers, and the final two are described as wearing a dark hooded top and light trousers."

Meeting hears heads' view on schools policy

MORE than 50 guests attended a business meeting to hear about a "joined up" approach to learning in Haverhill.

The Days Inn in Haverhill played host to the latest meeting of the bestofhaverhill which featured guest speakers Madeleine Vigar, head of the Castle Partnership's Castle Hill and Castle Manor schools in the town, and Howard Lay, headteacher at Samuel Ward Academy.

Mr Lay began by discussing the changes in education nationally and the implications of the move towards a two-tier system in Suffolk, along with the increasing popularity of academies and free schools.

He argued that specialist schools were losing their specialist status and accompanying funding, post-16 funding was being drastically reduced, and many schools were being forced to be "more like businesses" than ever before.

But Ms Vigar added that Haverhill's schools were demonstrating that they had the "capacity and desire" to shape its future.

Local schools face a summer of transition from a three-tier system to a two-tier system, which will result in two secondary schools and 12 primary schools in Haverhill and surrounding villages.

Elaine Carr, owner of thebestofhaverhill franchise, said: "It was a privilege to have the headteachers of our two outstanding colleges as guest speakers at this event.

"Madeleine Vigar and Howard Lay are inspirational leaders and have made a huge impact on the standard of education in Haverhill.

"The schools are keen to engage with local businesses and we must ensure that we afford them the time and resources they deserve as they develop and nurture the entrepreneurs and workforce of the future."

Stage is set for milestone celebration

CAMBRIDGE Arts Theatre celebrates its 75th anniversary with a season packed with variety and star quality.

From the best pre and post-West End theatre to brand new writing via a choice selection of the country's finest actors, theatre-lovers will have plenty to get their teeth into over the coming months.

The Arts has attracted a host of famous faces over the years, and in such a significant year the calibre of theatrical talent is no exception. One of the country's best-loved actors, the great Ian McKellen, makes a much-anticipated return to the stage in a new revival of Eduardo de Filippo's The Syndicate (August 29-September 3); Alan Bennett's critically acclaimed Madness of George III (October 10-15) stars David Haig – fresh from his triumph in the revived Yes, Prime Minister – and Basket Case (November 14-19) will see Cambridge favourite Nigel

It's 75 years since Cambridge welcomed a prestigious new theatre and the Arts is celebrating with an eclectic, star-packed new season, as Jennifer Shelton found out

Havers back on the boards.

There are two post-West End treats on the programme, including the Olivier Award-nominated End of the Rainbow (September 26-October 1), in which award-winning stage actress (and former Coronation Street star) Tracie Bennett gives a heartfelt portrayal of the legendary Judy Garland and her battle with drugs and alcohol.

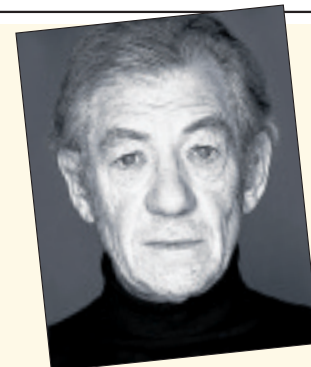

There will also be a chance to see productions from some of the country's best theatre companies. Returning are English Touring Theatre with Molière's farcical treat Tartuffe (September 20-24) and the second JB Priestley offering of the season, Eden East (July 19-23). Shakespeare's Globe on Tour present another outside spectacle with Hamlet from July 27-31 in the Master's Garden of Corpus Christi College and Headlong Theatre with the National Theatre bring their urban epic, Earthquakes in London, from November 8-12.

Then the Young Vic bring the darkly comic The Beauty Queen of Leenane (June 28-July 2), and Paines Plough deliver Mike Bartlett's critically acclaimed Love, Love, Love (June 7-12 – see next page).

As well as celebrating new writing, this season sees the return of some ever-popular productions, including JB Priestley's An Inspector Calls (October 18-22) and, topping us up with drama and intrigue, Collins' The Woman in White arrives from July 25-30, with former Time Lord Colin Baker leading the cast.

Comedy-lovers won't be disappointed either, with classics from two of the country's finest writers set to grace the stage.

Alarms and Excursions (July 4-9) by Michael Frayn looks at what happens when technology goes wrong while Season's Greetings (October 3-8) by Alan Ayckbourn explores the chaos of a traditional family Christmas.

Meanwhile, the young and young at heart will enjoy the three fantastic children's shows on offer; be prepared to hold your nose through Mr Stink (June 7-12), based on the best-selling book by David Walliams; then Rudyard Kipling's The Jungle Book (July 13-17) is brought to life with a magical combination of actors, puppets and songs.

Later, Horrible Histories: Awful Egyptians and Ruthless Romans (October 25-29) reveals the gory side of history using groundbreaking 3D special effects.

Festival time

FANS of the Haverhill Drama Festival will be pleased it's that time of the year again. This three-day festival will run at Haverhill Arts Centre from Wednesday, June 8 to Friday, June 10, with the following schedule: Wednesday, June 8 – Sawston Dramawise's Mission Improbable, by John Stuart, and East Bergholt Dramatic Society's The Extraordinary Revelations of Orca the Goldfish, by David Tristram; Thursday, June 9 – Clavering Players' Are You Awake?, by Keith Phillips, and Barn Theatre Company's Lost, by Lesley Bilton; and Friday, June 10 – Clare Amateur Dramatic Society's A Bit of a Boob, by Sue Osprey, and Viva Theatre Company's The Ark, by Helen Griffin. Entry is free but ticketed and will start at 7.30pm. Contact the box office to reserve your tickets on (01440) 714140.

■ Over to cinema at the arts centre there's The Fighter (15), starring Mark Wahlberg and Christian Bale, on Monday, June 6 and Tuesday, June 7 June at 7.45pm. Bale collected an Oscar for his supporting role as a washed-up former pugilist.

■ For more details, or to book, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Sixties' swing

GET those feet tapping – The Searchers are back in town with all your favourite hits tonight at 7.30pm.

Remember Sweets For My Sweet and Needles And Pins? All these will be played, as well as many of their original album recordings, B sides and a selection of well-known favourites. Merseybeat lives forever!

Tall tales from small tellers

How to produce a winner

A MUSICAL about Nazis? Is that such a great idea?

Actually, for king of Broadway Max Bialystock, it's his ticket to fame and fortune. Calculating that he could make more money by producing a flop than a hit, the musical maverick sets out to employ the worst stars and the worst director to bring to life a show that is guaranteed to go down like a lead balloon. However, despite his best efforts, Max finds that, unfortunately, there's no accounting for taste.

Brash, camp and totally over the top, Mel Brooks' The Producers won 12 Tony Awards and was hailed as "a gift from the showbiz gods" when it first opened in 1968.

Now, the Festival Players – whose previous productions include acclaimed versions of Sweeney Todd and Chess – bring this raucous, yet sometimes moving, musical spectacular to the ADC in Cambridge for 10 all-singing, all-dancing days.

■ The Producers, ADC Theatre, Cambridge, until June 11 at 7.45pm. Tickets are £12 (£8 concessions) from (01223) 300085 / www.adctheatre.com

ORIGINAL stories from primary school children across the country have been turned into a show called A Little Bird Told Me, appearing at Haverhill Arts Centre this half term.

Snail Tales Theatre company created the show after asking hundreds of children to come up with their own tall tales. The result is a performance brought to life with a concoction of curious storytelling, music, dance, and puppetry and is filled with dragons, witches and wizards.

A Little Bird Told Me takes place tomorrow at Haverhill Arts Centre at 2pm. Tickets are £5 and £18 for a family ticket. Call (01440) 714140 to book.

The big film

THE HANGOVER PART 2
certificate 15 101m

TODD Phillips's hair of the dog to the highest grossing comedy film of 2009 is a 101-minute alcohol-and drug-fuelled bender that strands the same beleaguered characters in the same hellish nightmare and watches them squirm.

The location may have changed from sun-baked Las Vegas to tropical Thailand but The Hangover Part II rests lazily on its moldering laurels, engineering familiar scenarios to inflict the maximum physical and emotional distress on the two-dimensional characters. Dentist Stu Price (Ed Helms) has fallen madly in love with Lauren (Jamie Chung) and they plan to marry in a traditional ceremony in Thailand.

Best friends Phil Wenneck (Bradley Cooper), Doug Billings (Justin Bartha) and Alan Garner (Zach Galifianakis) are invited and they take the long-haul flight with Lauren's 16-year-old brother Teddy (Mason Lee), who is destined for a career in medicine.

The next morning, Phil, Stu and Alan wake in a sleazy Bangkok hotel room, with pounding headaches and no recollection of the night before, and in Alan's case, considerably less hair.

The Hangover Part II is a tasteless, preposterous and ultimately pointless tale. Cooper's natural charm wilts in the heat while poor Helms is the butt of most of the jokes, literally so for a sequence at a dancing club where the screenwriters become sniggering schoolboys. Galifianakis is obnoxious from his opening scene and we struggle to comprehend his presence at the wedding, other than to drive the other protagonists to drink.

Stranger Tides (12A) 1, 4, 7, 10.30am, 12.45, 2.50, 5.20, 7.30, 9.45; Sat 12.45, 2.50, 5.20, 7.30, 9.45; Sun 10.30am, 12.45, 2.50, 5.20, 7.30, 9.45.

Quirky ways to add touch of art

CHELSEA unveiled its new artisan gardens category for the first time this year, where designers were asked to use natural, sustainably resourced materials artistically.

Driftwood, reclaimed bricks and cockleshell edgings were among the items which featured in the displays. Yet you shouldn't have to look too far to find bits and pieces that can add historical, elegant and quirky touches to your own garden, whatever the setting.

Second-hand shops, reclamation yards and even car boot sales can be an Aladdin's cave of unusual containers and statues, chimney pots which can be upended to house colourful plants, quirky garden seating and ornaments.

Old railway platform seats and seating from boats have been put to use in the past, while DIY enthusiasts have constructed seats featuring little more than a short piece of scaffolding plank resting on two neat piles of old bricks. Funky benches have been made using old tyres at either end supporting seats of painted scaffolding planks.

If you live near the sea, explore the beach to search for driftwood, or shells which you could use to make a feature mosaic to hang on your house wall.

by Hannah Stephenson

Mosaics and patterns can also be made out of pebbles or broken coloured tiles arranged Roman style.

Fallen logs can be used to edge paths, while those on a budget may be more inclined to go for local gravel.

Eye-catching containers can be made out of anything you may otherwise dump, from old food cans painted with brightly coloured weather-resistant paint, to sinks which can house a myriad of rock plants, and teapots, mugs and rusty buckets with holes drilled in the bottom which can be planted up and strategically placed to brighten up the scene.

Old wicker baskets can also make good plant pots, stained, varnished and lined with black plastic, while broken pots can be used for a display of rock plants such as sempervivums, surrounded by broken bits of pot.

Wine aficionados who are lucky enough to have had their vino delivered in wooden boxes with lovely embossed logos should consider growing salad crops in them. See if your local wine merchant might have any boxes spare and preserve the wood with Danish oil to weatherproof it, as well as drilling holes in the base for drainage. Port boxes can also act as good containers.

You can also grow crops in old drawers, weatherproofing the wood first and then drilling holes for drainage and lining the drawers with plastic.

You may also have to add corner braces to the drawers to stop the wood from warping, but they will make eye-catching veg containers.

Use your own home-grown stems of bamboo, when the canes are green and flexible, or red dogwood, to cut and weave into plant supports.

If you want to create an arch which will be smothered in flowering plants, but don't want to spend a fortune, you can do it cheaply by bending old lengths of metal pipe or builders' reinforcing bars, which will all be hidden by the climbers.

You don't have to go to Chelsea to find inspiration in recycling your junk – just think twice before chucking out that old chipped teapot...

NEW LOOK: Old items that have reached the end of their useful life can be adapted to make artistic garden displays.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.
- ☐ Store cards and accounts.

Car owners are happier, with better servicing a key factor

MOTORISTS are growing more satisfied with their vehicles, according to a survey of more than 16,000 car owners.

And the biggest increase in satisfaction levels over the last 12 months has come in the car servicing category, the poll found.

The Lexus IS was the top-rated model and Lexus also topped the manufacturers' satisfaction table in the survey by information services company JD Power and Associates and What Car? magazine.

In contrast, the Ford Ka was 108th and last in the model table, while Vauxhall was bottom of the 28-strong manufacturers' table.

Overall, satisfaction levels averaged 79.4 per cent compared with 78.9 per cent in last year's survey.

After the Lexus IS, the vehicle that owners were most satisfied with was the Honda Accord, with the Lexus RX third, the Honda CR-V fourth and the Toyota Prius fifth.

Just above the Ford Ka at the bottom of the model table was the Kia Rio (in 107th place), with the Vauxhall Corsa 106th and the Suzuki SX4 105th.

In the manufacturers' table, Honda was second to Lexus, with Jaguar third, Skoda fourth and Mini fifth.

At the bottom, just above 28th and last-placed Vauxhall, was Suzuki (27th), with Chevrolet 26th, Peugeot 25th and Mitsubishi 24th.

JD Power's European automotive operations senior director Brian Walters said: "It is particularly encouraging that satisfaction with ownership costs has improved during a year that has witnessed record fuel costs, increased insurance premiums and greater competitive price pressure for dealerships.

"In many respects, this indicates that auto makers have been able to protect their customers from direct internal cost pressures."

What Car? magazine editor Jim Holder said: "It's great news that people are more satisfied with their cars than ever, and it proves that car makers are getting things right more often.

"Yet again, Lexus tops the study with outstandingly reliable cars and dealer back-up that is truly exceptional. Brands at the other end of the spectrum must work hard to win back customer support."

The survey was based on the evaluations of more than 16,500 online interviews from UK car owners after an average of two years of ownership.

The Lexus IS250: Top of the latest 'What Car?' poll.

The Honda Accord: Second.

A collection of colorful, stylized cars in various shapes and sizes, including a red car, a blue car, a yellow car, a green car, a purple car, and a pink car, arranged in a row. The cars are drawn in a simple, cartoonish style with bold outlines and flat colors. They are arranged in a row, with some cars partially overlapping others. The colors include red, blue, yellow, green, purple, and pink. The cars have different shapes, some resembling classic cars and others more modern or futuristic. They are all facing towards the right of the image.

General Vacancies

Nexus

No media sales experience?

Not a problem! We will train you to sell well - successfully but ethically

Hate office politics?

Welcome to the most supportive and down-to-earth salesfloor on the planet!

Heading for the top?

Substantial, uncapped commission rates and many career progression opportunities

Nexus delivers world-class publications that address global issues, engage world leaders and make a difference to the lives of people on every continent. We are looking for 10 driven, confident and articulate people to be trained to sell sponsorship and advertising on these projects.

Call Julia on 01223 488829 to book a place at our open evening.

www.nexuspartnerships.com/sellwell

Care Network is an evolving and expanding Cambridgeshire charity. From small beginnings in the 1980s, we now operate county-wide serving both community groups and isolated, older and other vulnerable residents. To meet the demands of demographic change and decreasing statutory services, we're looking for enthusiastic leaders to take us forward!

CHIEF OFFICER

30-37 hrs/wk (negotiable); £35,000+ pro-rata (pending review)

Our CO's role is growing as we widen our 'Help at Home' and community development services, playing a key role in meeting the needs of an aging and rural population and The Big Society initiative. The current post-holder is retiring, so we're looking for an experienced senior manager with a passion to lead us through exciting times, working to support independence, reduce loneliness and improve quality of life for Cambridgeshire's residents. You need good knowledge of the localism, health and adult social care agendas, and ideally already lead a local public or voluntary sector organisation.

SENIOR DEVELOPMENT OFFICER

30 hrs/wk; £23,184 pro-rata (pending review)

This is a new senior post, co-ordinating our small team of community development workers. With them, you'll help local volunteers to set up and run good neighbour schemes. You'll also lead our partnership work at county level with statutory and voluntary agencies. You're a good communicator and an effective project manager. Ideally, you have some management experience and already work in community development or the third sector.

DIRECT SERVICES ADMINISTRATOR

18 hrs/wk; £20,010 pro-rata

This is another new post, providing administrative support for our team of co-ordinators, who support volunteer visitors and enable them to meet requests for our expanding Help at Home service. You're well-organised, a good communicator, numerate, reliable and discrete.

For an application pack email admin@care-network.org.uk or call 01954-211919. Closing date for applications: 22nd June 2011.

Care Network, 5 Broadway House, 149-151 St Neots Rd, Hardwick, Cambridge, CB23 7QJ. Charity number 1120693; registered in England & Wales.

We're also looking for volunteers to visit patients over a 2-3 week period to provide practical help in the home or support after discharge from hospital. Could you help? Call us for information!

Climate change, earthquakes, extinctions... help us communicate the big environmental issues

Engineering Specialist

£30,710 - £37,120 + Based Cranfield, Bedfordshire

The Facility for Airborne Atmospheric Measurements (FAAM) provides the UK atmospheric science community with high quality data in support of research and forecasting. A world-class collaboration between the Met Office and the Natural Environment Research Council (NERC), we operate the BAe-146-301 Atmospheric Research Aircraft. For more information about FAAM and its work, please look at www.faam.ac.uk

This is an exciting opportunity for a talented engineer with strong troubleshooting skills to develop and maintain the aircraft's science instrumentation and data systems. You'll also play a major part in the new DECADES project, which aims to develop the hardware and software for a new aircraft-based data recording and visualisation system. The role will involve working on-board a research aircraft and on regular overseas detachments.

You'll come to us with a degree or equivalent in electronic or electrical engineering or similar. Electronics design and engineering skills covering digital and analogue systems along with experience of integrating electronics and software or firmware will be vital. You'll also have a proven track record of developing data systems and interfaces to instruments.

We offer a defined benefit occupation pension scheme, a generous annual leave allowance of 30 days plus 10.5 days bank holidays, and flexible working hours. Details on pension options can be found on www.jsspensions.org.uk

NERC has an equal opportunities policy and welcomes applications from all sections of the community. People with disabilities and those from ethnic minorities are currently under represented and their applications are particularly welcomed. We also have a guaranteed interview scheme for applicants with disabilities.

Applications are handled by the RCUK Shared Services Centre; to apply please visit our job board at <https://ext.ssc.rcuk.ac.uk> and complete an online application form. If you have a query you should contact us by telephone on 01793 867003. Please quote reference number IRC 22208.

Closing date: 17 June 2011.

Interview date: 4 July 2011.

The Council has an equal opportunities policy and welcomes applications from all sections of the community.

>> Cricket: Midweek League

Mac attack KOs champs

SAWSTON'S march to the Adams Harrison Midweek League Division One title has gathered pace after they claimed the scalps of defending champions Haverhill.

Joe McCluskey led the way, scoring 37 in Sawston's 119 for 7 and then taking 3 for 19 as Haverhill lurched to 87 for 7. Aaron Pledger also made 34.

The result leaves the champions one off the foot of the table, the position occupied by Babraham, who finished well adrift of Abington.

The visitors stormed to 183 for 6 on the back of Matt Thomas' 55 and 44 from Dave Pimblett against Stuart Morrison's 4 for 36. Chris Palmer top scored with 57 in Babraham's 127 for 9, Andy Macdonald finishing with 4 for 28.

Elsewhere in the top flight, Weston Colville were comfortable winners against Fulbourn, scoring 170 for 9 before restricting their opponents to 104 for 9.

The top-of-the-table clash in Division Two ended in a close win for Hundon, who take over top spot.

Chris Baldwin scored 63 in Hundon's 119 for 9 before taking three wickets as Horseheath wound up at 109, despite an unbeaten 31 from Steve Lanceman.

Cherry Tree finished second best again in another thriller. Nick Wright (34) and Dave Hodge (25) helped them to a healthy 163 for 9, only for Stuart Whitehart (39) and Steve Hale (30) to lift Long Melford to 165 for 4. Gestingthorpe claimed a welcome win in Division 3A, Kenny Moulton (25) and Chris Ayres (31) helping them to 87 for 6 in response to Hundon II's 86 for 6.

Nigel Brunning was in impressive form as Haverhill II set out their promotion intentions by crushing Highpoint.

He backed up Liam Savage's unbeaten 59 with a valuable 49 as Haverhill reached 180 for 5 and then ripped through the response with 6 for 13 as Highpoint limped to 54.

Also in 3A, Brockley (104 for 9) beat Watting Lions (90 for 9).

Abington II remain the main threat to Shelfords' promotion hopes after beating bottom side Mill Green.

Matt Norman (53 not out) and Greg Wagstaff (52) helped them reach 124 for 2 after Ed Argent's classy 61 and 32 from James Haylock got Mill Green to 123 for 3.

Shelfords, however, plough on in their debut season, scoring 124 for 5 (Thomas Barnard 32 and Mark Harrod 36 not out) in response to Linton's 123 for 5.

■ Hundon II are through to the next stage of the League Cup.

Bruce Workmaster (57) and Tom Beaumont (46) helped them to 165 for 7 before Nathan Poole took 3 for 13 to restrict Highpoint to 101 for 8.

Comeback queens: Ladies' captain Marian Mercer (centre) with the Cranworth team after their amazing victory. CP

It's Darbey's day!

DOREEN Darbey claimed the matchwinning point as Haverhill Ladies launched a stunning fightback to see off Ufford Park in the preliminary round of the Cranworth at Ipswich.

Trailing 10-5 at lunch after the morning foursomes, Haverhill battled back to edge in 23-22, vice-captain Darbey capping the comeback with the last-gasp win which clinched a first-round tie against Stowmarket at Fynn Valley on June 23.

Results (Haverhill names first) - Foursomes: Gerry Wheatley and Sally Price bt Mary Brooks and Brenda Taylor 4-1, Sarah Field and Doreen Darbey lost Hilary Bidewell and Gill Till 1½-4½, Lyn Fish and Catie Heathfield lost Wendy Hayes and Val Moon ½-4½. Singles: Wheatley lost Brooks 0-5, Field bt Bidewell 4-1, Fish bt Till 4½-½, Heathfield lost Hayes ½-4½, Price bt Taylor 5-0, Darbey bt Val Moon 4-1.

■ Catie Heathfield, Trevor Broomfield and Jamie Morse eased to a comfortable win in the Melford Cup, the one lady and two men - one low and one high handicap - competition with all three stableford scores counting. They totalled 96 points to finish five clear of the scramble for second place with Lyn Fish, Steve Nichols and Peter Mercer edging out Jane Herrington, Wayne Penman and Richard Peck on countback.

■ Ian Rose carded a nett 67 to win the men's IFF Challenge and have his handicap trimmed by two shots. However, the highlight of the day was Richard Rand's ace on the 129-yard par-three eighth, when he holed his tee shot with an eight iron.

Results - Division One: 1 Harvey Bavester 77-6-71, 2 Chris Vince 75-3-72 on countback from Dave Pipe 77-5-72.

Division Two: 1 Andrew Gage 85-15-70 on count back from Jonathan Wiseman 85-15-70, 3 Spencer Tatum 90-18-72. Division Three: 1 Ian Rose 94-27-67, 2 Adrian Lord 96-25-71, 3 Mark Hilton 101-28-73.

■ Haverhill Seniors lost by eight holes in the Beaumont Trophy second round clash at Seckford.

Results: Peter Bowers and Rob Viney lost by four, Bob Hammett and Colin Durston halved, Mike Barnham and Geoff Bush lost by two, Ernie Lloyd and Frank Robertson lost by two.

■ Gary Webb romped to victory in the men's May Medal, which was also the second leg of the Cecil Darken Cup. He carded a superb nett 63 and has had his handicap trimmed by two shots to 16.

Results - Division One: 1 Andy Tabrar 76-12-64, 2 Dennis Harkness 74-7-67, 3 Terry Lyons 81-10-71. Division Two: 1 Gary Webb 81-18-63, 2 Dan Wilkins 84-16-68 on countback from Chris Mellings 88-20-68. Division Three: 1 Jim Mulley 92-24-68, 2 Paul Donno 91-21-70 on countback from Richard Peck 91-21-70.

We can rule world, says GB's golden girl Maclean

WHEELCHAIR basketball player Caroline Maclean believes Great Britain can conquer the world after they chalked up a second straight victory over Germany at the BT Paralympic World Cup and a first gold medal in Manchester.

The 36-year-old fired Great Britain to group-stage victories over world silver medallists Germany and Canada, and while a one-point defeat to Japan was the only blot on Maclean and Co's copybook, GB downed the old enemy in the final in style, chalking up a 63-52 win.

Great Britain will now head to September's European Championships in Israel riding the crest of a wave and with high hopes of a third straight win over defending champions Germany.

And Maclean believes GB have proved they can be a match for anyone in the world.

"This was a real team effort and everyone chipped in with a point, which was fantastic. To pull it out when it really mattered was important," said Maclean. "It's the first time that we have won gold here and it's fantastic, even if it's been a long time coming.

"The key to success this week has been confidence and, while there are quite a few younger players in the squad, we're all gelling together as a team.

"We know we can beat Germany and we know we can beat any team in the world and make sure it happens on the day."

Great Britain will head to Israel desperate to reach the final, having collected bronze at six of the last seven competitions, six of which Maclean has featured in, while Germany have been champions at the last five.

But Maclean, who will hope to take part in her fourth Paralympic Games in London next year, believes it is high time Great Britain bucked that trend.

"It gives us a lot of confidence going forward and on to Israel," added Maclean. "Preparation is going really well, we're training really hard.

"This is a great competition to gain experience for the new girls.

"The Germans will be there again at the Europeans and we've always been on a par with the Dutch, so that will be a good test, but after our performances here I think we can beat them."

■ The BT Paralympic World Cup took place in Manchester from May 23-28 with elite international athletes competing in Swimming, Athletics and Wheelchair Basketball.

Young's return hits Horseheath

HORSEHEATH are still searching for their first win of the Cricket Stick CCA Senior League, Division One season after March II proved too strong at The Avenue.

Matthew Vail's 79 was followed by a mini collapse, but the home team were able to post 218 for 7 after skipper John Wallis (34 not out), Andrew Wright (21) and Richard Green (33 not out) walloped 92 runs in the last 10 overs. Gary Ellis took 4 for 51.

Daniel Goldsmith hit 38 and Martin Giles registered 31 in Horseheath's reply, but the return of Callum Young (4 for 34), whose wickets came in his second spell, ensured they were dismissed for 153.

■ James Read hammered 75 as Saffron Walden II ran out winners by 83 runs at home to Weston Colville in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League.

Read joined Byron Sindell in a fourth-wicket stand of 68, the latter scoring 33, before Mark Thompson blasted an unbeaten 34 as the hosts chalked up 218 for 5.

Andy Brightmore struck 44 as he and fellow opener Trevor Westley (9) made 59 together. But while Walden gave the visitors 58 extras, Stephen Larsen took 4 for 14 and Steve Marsh (below) 3 for 31 to see off Weston Colville at 135.

Silver service stops another batting flop

HAVERHILL skipper Adam Dellar may be pondering changes to his batting line-up after another Jekyll and Hyde performance at Maldon.

With games against the top three in successive weeks – starting with unbeaten Wivenhoe at Manor Road on Saturday (1pm) – the skipper is anxious to lift his batsmen as they battle to avoid a relegation scrap in their Marshall Hatchick Two Counties League, Division One debut season.

They needed the club's coach, the former England pace bowler Chris Silverwood, to do the business with the bat to steady their reply after another good bowling and fielding performance pegged Maldon to a below-par 104.

The home side were almost allowed off the hook as Haverhill wobbled at 18 for 3 and then 60 for 6 before getting home with three wickets in hand.

Dellar won the toss and watched as Raj Singh (10-3-28-3) and wicketkeeper Luke Youngs teamed up to claim the first two wickets.

Singh then clean bowled Randall – the bastman not offering a shot – before Joe Woodley struck with the first of his three victims to reduce Maldon to 37 for 4. Although the fifth-wicket pair took the score to 60, Woodley ended the revival, providing Youngs with the third of his four catches.

Simon Youngs then took charge, running through the tail-enders to finish with 11-3-25-4 as the home side ended with a whimper.

However, Scott Webb, Dellar and Luke Youngs – his first failure of the season – went cheaply before Sam Powell (17) and Dave Brown (17) tried to launch a revival. The demise of Steve Fox (0) brought Silverwood to the crease and he lived dangerously, hammering a few boundaries as well as being dropped twice. Dan Poole came out of his shell to contribute 14 but Haverhill were still 20 short when he was caught on the boundary. It was left to the experienced Simon Youngs (15 not out) to keep Silverwood (32 not out) company and they got their side home at 108 for 7.

Worryingly, it took the side's total to 777 runs from six innings.

■ Haverhill's second team are top of Division Six after Copford II conceded the points on Saturday.

They are at Ipswich III on Saturday, while the third team are at home to Cokenach II in the Cricket Stick CCA Junior League, Division 6B.

Haverhill's Sunday sides were without games last week, but the firsts resume their Hunts County Bats campaign this weekend at Ampton & Culford while the seconds are at home to Risby (1.30pm) in Division Four.
